FRANKFORT, KY., MARCH 13, 1880.

My Native Isle of Sorrow.

All desolate is Erin,
By some affliction tried,
For famine through her green isles
Stalks with gigantic stride;
And Fever, brooding in its wake,
Hangs heavy in the air
To smite to earth the few scant ears
That famine's hand may spare.

All stern of aspect as they move,
These sisters, hand in hand,
Are keeping watch upon the sea,
And watch upon the land,
'Till, from ten thousand suffering lips,
A shrill and bitter cry
Goes up to heaven in unison,
"Lord! help us, or we die."

The memories of forty-eight
Are in my mind once more;
The dread of seeing once again
The awful scenes of yore,
When crows led lane, and city street,
And plain, and hillside lone,
I saw the dying peasant's face,
And heard his dying moan.

Old men who lived these horrors through
Will whisper in their talk,
That still the ghosts of those who died,
The Abbey church yard walk;
That from their graves, at dead of night,
They rise in silent bands
And whisper words of mystic sound,
And wave their famished hands.

O Lord, before thy mighty throne
We bow our feeble will;
Aught else, but from poor Erin's lips
Keep back this chalice still.
For the many sins upon our heads
Let thy judgment stand,
But from another famine year
God save my native land.

FRANKFORT, KY., March 12th, 1880.

Messrs. Day & Hall are selling an extra choice article of hemp seed. Farmers in need of seed will do well to call and examine it before purchasing.

Rev. Wm. L. Green, D. D., will preach in the Presbyterian Church to-morrow, Sunday, morning, at 11 o'clock. Dr. Green is a minister of considerable reputation, and all who go to hear him will be amply repaid. Seats free and all are invited.

The Sheriff will begin advertising property next week on which the taxes for 1879 have not been paid, and no favoritism will be shown to persons who are in arrears. If you don't want your name published as a delinquent tax-payer, pay your taxes at once.

At a meeting of Capital Lodge, No. 6, I. O. O. F., last Monday night, Messrs. E. Whitesides and W. S. Dehoney were each presented with a handsome gold-headed cane by the Lodge, for their long and faithful services and in token of the high esteem in which they are held by their brethren. The canes were exactly alike, and the inscription on each was the same except, of course, the names of the receivers, which was as follows: "Presented to E. Whitesides by Capital Lodge, No. 6 I. O. O. F., Frankfort, Ky." The presentation speeches were made by Hon. Thos. B. Ford in handsome style, and the recipients made such responses as they could under the circumstances. The gifts could not have fallen into worthier hands.

Mrs. H. Evans advertises a house for sale or rent in another column.

At about twelve o'clock last night Robert Mosby, white, George Hazelwood and Frank Sims, colored, three prisoners confined in the jail at this place, made their escape by prizing a stone of the ceiling of one of the cells out of position with a couple of sticks, and passing along between the ceiling and roof to the end of the jail next the alley, making an opening in the brick portion of the gable, and climbed down the wall on the outside, the jutting stones furnishing them a very good ladder.

Robert Brown, colored, who was placed in jail for fornication, and awaiting trial, was threatened with death by the others if he told on them. Waiting until they had gone, he went out the hole made by them and informed Mr. Lawler of their escape. The alarm was immediately given, and the police placed on the track of the fugitives, but as yet nothing has been heard of them.

Robt. Mosby is under the charge of murder in Anderson county, and had been brought here for safe-keeping, a mob having threatened to take him out of jail in Lawrenceburg and hang him. Geo. Hazelwood was under indictment for attempted poisoning, and Frank Sims was convicted at the late term of the Criminal Court for malicious cutting, and was retained in jail in hopes of getting a pardon.

The Masquerade Ball.

The mere mention of a hop under the auspices of the Assembly Ball Club is sufficient to bring out the beauty and gallantry of the Capital City and her neighboring sister cities; and it is also a guarantee that the entertainment will be strictly first-class in every particular.

It was announced in the papers a week ago that the closing hop of the season would take place last night at Capital Hotel, and that it would be a grand masquerade.

As might have been expected, this was the gayest and best and most enjoyable of all the entertainments given by the famous Assembly Ball Club—a club that stands at the head of all the clubs, of a like character, in the South.

South's orchestra, noted all over Kentucky for its good music, fairly surpassed itself last night. It, too, seemed to have saved its most ravishing strains of music for the last. To appreciate the sweet music and the gay scene it was necessary to be present and hear and see.

Below will be found a partial list of persons, costumes and characters represented—it being utterly impossible to get a complete list:

Will Sneed, Cal. Wagoner's clowny Buttercup. Will was a stunner.
Logan McKee, Little Buttercup in Pinatone. Logan had his hair split in the middle, and wore patent leather low-cut shoes, flesh colored tights and a short white muslin skirt. He looked just too sweet.
Harry Graham, City Swell.
Tom Macklin, a French Count.
Miss Pattie Roberts, Mexican Princess;
red velvet and cream silk.

Miss Sallie Cannon, Spanish Lady; scarlet satin, black lace.

Miss Lullie Nuckols, Queen Elizabeth; black velvet robe trimmed with cream silk.
Miss May Washington, Covington, Persian Lady; scarlet and cream bunting with trimmings of gold.

Miss Dorsey Stanton, Katrina Van Tassel; blue silk over black velvet.

Miss Ettie Scott, Pocahontas; buckskin dress, beads, and fancy colored feathers.

Miss Daisy Fitzhugh, Zayda, a Moorish Lady; green and scarlet silk, black velvet and lace.

Miss Lou, Mitchell, Louisville, Topsy.

Miss Mamie Kremer, of Louisville, Hungarian Girl; red and cream bunting, gold trimmings.

Miss Kate Meriwether, Folly; silk in all the colors of the rainbow, pearls, diamonds, gold, and everything that Folly would be likely to put on.

Charlie Kineaid, correspondent of the Courier-Journal, looked just too cute in a blue cotton dress, red bandanna head handkerchief and heavy brogans.

Miss Cartmell Huston, of Morganfield, Beatrice. This character was exceedingly well represented.

Miss Sallie Sneed, the Pirate's Bride; blue silk over cardinal and cream silk, silver and pearl ornaments.

George L. Payne, Army Officer.

Dr. T. L. Taylor and Jake Evans, Siamese twins, looked sweet in white blouses, black pants, and buckskin leggings.

Mrs. Dr. Miller, Clark county, Comet; black velvet, gold fringe.

Miss Lollie Starling, Nun.

Miss Jennie Julian, Novice.

Miss Lucy Julian, Daughter of the Regiment; blue and pink satin, point lace.

Mrs. Jas. C. Hopple, of Cincinnati, Maid of the Mist; blue tarlatan dress covered with white illusion veil, flowing hair.

Miss Nannie Laughlin, Lexington, Spanish Lady; black velvet richly embroidered silk, black lace.

Miss Eleanor Holmes, "Pelina Sykes"; faded black calico, white muslin neck handkerchief and white ruffled cap.

Miss Phillips, of Louisville, "Miss Betsy Tickler"; faded black calico, white muslin neck handkerchief, white ruffled cap. She carried a calico patchwork reticule and a turkey wing for a fan.

Miss Bettie Stewart, Hygeia, daughter of Esculapius.

Miss Eliza Green, Buttercup in Pinatone. John Milam attracted much attention as a quadruped known to most people as a jackass.

Will Snelton, Dandy in checked calico pants.

Sam. Gaines, of the Hopkinsville New Era, was fascinating in a white neck-tie and button-hole bouquet. His hair was nicely split in the middle, which added much to the set smile he wore.

Col. Alex. Julian was decidedly the beau of the evening. He represented a Gentleman of the Period, and appeared in full party dress.

Misses Cecil Vaughn and Lullie Stanton, Children dedicated to the Blessed Virgin; short white dresses, white aprons, white sun-bonnets, blue trimmings.

Miss Josie Murphy, Gerolde Giraffa; blue and pink silk and pink satin.

Miss Jennie Keenon of Covington, represented the Press of Kentucky. Her dress was made of newspapers in the most artistic style, trimmed with various newspaper heads. Hanging down her back was a good sized hand-bill containing this: "The charming Craddock is to be married." "Look for John D. White next Monday. Hurrah! Hurrah!" "Dam the Kentucky river!" "Allen leads." "Bigger and Berry want to be Governor. The Bigger the Berry the better the chance." "J. Speed Smith is the handsomest man in the House." "Unless Senator Blackburn's forefinger explodes he will be President yet." The costume was both novel and pretty and attracted general attention.

FRANKFORT, MARCH 13, 1880.

Close Up.

The police were instructed last Monday to notify every business man and woman in Frankfort that the transaction of business of any kind, except the sale of drugs and medicines only, would not be tolerated in this city any longer on Sunday.

The Police Judge means business, and he will see that the city ordinances are properly observed if the police will give him the right kind of aid.

This order will have the effect of stopping every character of traffic on Sundays, barber shops included. Dealers in fresh meats and perishable articles will be allowed to deliver such goods early Sunday mornings, but under no circumstances will they be permitted to make sales. Druggists will be allowed to sell drugs and medicines only, the sale of cigars, tobacco, or anything else of the kind, subjecting them to a prosecution for violation of the Sunday Law.

The police are in earnest in this matter, and will promptly report any person known to be guilty of a violation of the ordinances.

Gentlemen, if you want to shave, or buy cigars, or tobacco, or fruit, you must attend to it on Saturday evening. Don't run the risk of getting your friends in trouble by asking them to violate the law to accommodate you.

Let every good citizen of Frankfort join in the effort to secure good order on Sunday and a proper observance of the same. We cannot expect the officers of the law to be successful in their efforts to enforce the laws without the aid and support of all good citizens.

We saw a letter yesterday written by little Willie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jno M. Banta. It is his first effort, and a remarkable production for a child not yet six and a half years of age. When he started to school to Mrs. Agne Franklin last September he didn't know all the letters in the alphabet. He is now reading in the second reader, writing and studying arithmetic. His father and mother were both pupils of Mrs. Franklin in former years.

R. K. McClure & Bro.'s illustrated Fireside Journal for the spring and summer of 1880 has been laid on our table. It is full of interesting reading matter.

Mr. Berberich, the fashionable tailor, advertises in this issue. You may confidently rely on what he says.

Read the garden seeds advertisement of Mr. Jos. LeCompte in this issue.

Personal.

Mr. R. K. McClure has returned from New York.

Mrs. Dr. W. H. Hall is visiting relatives in the Blue-Grass Region.

Prof. J. Rowland Day, of Millersburg, has been in the city this week.

Miss Addie Sproule and Susie Rodman have been in Louisville this week.

Mrs. Matt. E. Jett has been, and is, quite ill at her home in South Frankfort.

The friends of Miss Laura Craddock will regret to learn that she is very ill.

Mr. Att. Rennie left for his home in Denver, Colorado, Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Dr. B. F. Duvall has been visiting friends in the Blue Grass Capital this week.

Mrs. D. G. Venable and her daughter, Miss Mittie, left Tuesday for Denison, Texas.

Dr. T. L. Taylor made a short visit to friends in Richmond the first of the week.

Hon. Henry Watterson, of the Courier-Journal, made a short visit to the city this week.

Mr. V. Berberich has returned from the East, where he has been to buy his spring stock.

Miss Nattie Lane, of Terre Haute, Ind., is in the city, the guest of Miss Scottie Chinn.

Mrs. N. Montague returned home the first of the week from a visit to relatives in Fayette county.

Misses Jennie and Mary H. Todd have returned home, after a pleasant visit to friends in Harrodsburg.

Miss Emma Coleman is visiting friends at 665 Third Avenue, Louisville. She will be absent two or three weeks.

Miss Lon. Mitchell, an accomplished young lady of Louisville, has been visiting Mrs. Clay Sale this week.

Mrs. E. A. Bradley returned to her home in New York Monday, after a short visit to friends in this city.

Miss Mary Brown Russell left for New York Monday to visit friends in that city. She will be absent some time.

Miss Julia Sneed, who has been visiting friends here for some time, returned to her home in Louisville last Saturday.

Miss Carithers, who has been visiting Miss Alice Lewis for several weeks, returned to her home in Shelbyville Thursday.

Miss Ellen Trimble returned to her home in Mt. Sterling last Saturday. She has been the guest of the Misses South, this city.

Little Miss Lena Crumbaugh, after a three weeks' visit to her relatives in this city, has returned to her home in Shelby county.

Mr. Jas. Rodman left Wednesday for New York to purchase the spring stock for Rodman & Bro. He will be absent two or three weeks.

Miss Huston, who has been visiting her cousin, Miss Eleanor Holmes in this city for several weeks, made a short visit to Louisville this week.

Mr. P. F. Smith and wife went to Louisville Monday. Mr. Smith is expected home to-day, but his wife will remain in the Falls City several weeks.

Hon. M. J. Cook, of Mt. Vernon, who has represented his county in both branches of the Legislature a number of times, has been in the city this week, witnessing the deliberations of our Solons.

Mr. R. C. Kelly and his accomplished wife, Miss Virgie Smith that was, returned to their home in Henry county last Saturday, after a week's visit to the family of Hon. D. Howard Smith in this city.

Mr. Jas. H. Graham and Miss Emma Pruett, both of this city, were married in Louisville on Wednesday, 10th inst. The richest of friends wish this well mated couple unclouded happiness and prosperity.

Mr. John T. Stout returned the first of the week from Georgia, where he has been nearly all winter trading stock, and left for St. Louis, Mo., on Thursday, in company with Mr. Geo. Montjoy, to buy two or three car loads of mules for the southern market.

OBITUARY.

Departed this life December 22d, 1879, in this county, at the residence of her father, Alfred W. Cox, of consumption, Miss LAURA S. COX, aged 22 years. One of the purest of earth has been taken from our midst. The church of Christ has lost an ornament. The loss sustained by the family is irreparable, but her loss is her eternal gain, for "happy are the dead who die in the Lord; they cease from their labors, and their works do follow them."

The deceased, very early in life, espoused the cause of God, and attached herself to the Baptist Church, of which she continued to be an exemplary and devoted member up to the time of her death. Having adorned herself with those Christian graces, virtue, knowledge, temperance, patience, and Godliness, doubtless an entrance has been ministered unto her abundantly into the kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.

She was amiable, gentle, and affectionate. To love her was but to make her acquaintance. Intelligent, fluent, chaste, and commanding the greatest respect and esteem in the social circle. She lived happily and died perfectly resigned to the will of the Lord. She spoke of her exit from time to eternity with as much composure and felicity as one about setting out on a very pleasant journey. For her death had no terrors. "Oh grave, where is thy victory?"

She leaves a numerous circle of relatives and friends to mourn her loss.

"And though we grieve that her life's sun is set, And sigh for her presence once more, She is living still, and can love us yet— Be our guardian angel, till life is o'er."

Foresters meet next Wednesday evening at 7½ o'clock.

Don't forget to go to see Kate Claxton next Wednesday night, 17th inst. Secure seats at once

Wont Frankfort put on city airs when she gets her houses numbered and the names of her streets posted on the street corners?

Better see Dryden at once and secure your seats for next Wednesday night. Kate Claxton is an artiste in her line, and will afford pleasure to all who go to see her.

The store-room of Messrs. R. K. McClure & Bro. is being extended back thirty-eight feet to make room for the large stock of spring and summer goods which they will receive in a short time.

A fine lot of second hand novels—part of a circulating library—in good condition will be sold cheap at Marshall & Meagher's. Many of them are bound in cloth, and are by the best authors. Call and see them.

No better officer or cleverer gentleman ever served the city of Frankfort than Thos. J. Todd—better known among his friends as "Junie"—our present City Marshal. He is announced in this issue as a candidate for reelection.

Messrs. Marshall & Meagher, the popular Main street merchants, have secured the services of Mr. Jas. D. O'Connor, one of the finest shoe-makers ever in Frankfort. Orders for boots and shoes will receive prompt attention. Perfect fits warranted.

The regular monthly meeting of Frankfort Royal Arch Chapter, No. 3, will take place next Tuesday night, March 16th, at 7½ o'clock. There will be work in the M. E. and R. A. Degrees, and a full attendance of the members is requested. Visiting Companions are cordially invited to attend.

The Order of Good Templars in this city has been steadily increasing during the winter months. New members have been added to the Lodge every meeting night, and much interest manifested. The next meeting will be held in in Good Templars' Hall Old Fellows' Temple, next Thursday evening at 7½ o'clock.

As Mr. Jos. Staten was coming into town along the Louisville pike, Tuesday morning, in his milk wagon, the bolt came out of one of the shaft clips, letting the shafts down upon the horse's heels, and in order to stop the wagon Mr. Staten ran it against the fence, which broke the horse loose from the wagon and dragged Mr. S. out on the pike by the reins, cutting his head and bruising his hands very badly.

Criminal Court adjourned Wednesday. The Grand Jury returned seventy-five true bills for sundry offences against the law. They report the jail, penitentiary, Circuit and County Clerks' offices in good condition, and recommend that new cases be secured for records in the County Clerk's office, and that the office be painted inside.

As the wagon belonging to Adams Express Company was returning from the depot Wednesday afternoon the spindle of the right hind wheel broke at the corner of Market and St. Clair streets, spilling the freight out on the ground and causing Parice to slide off on his ear. Nobody was hurt, but 'Lish' was terribly scared.

Judge Drane is announced in this issue as a candidate for reelection to the office of Judge of the Circuit Court of the Eleventh Judicial District. No purer judge has ever occupied the bench than he, and his ability is conceded by all who know him. He is sober, attentive to his duties, and is a first-class officer—all that any man need to be.

Attention is called to our column of announcements, wherein Breathitt Phythian and Russell Sneed are announced as candidates for City Marshal and Deputy Marshal. These two young men are so well and favorably known here that words of commendation are not needed. They are both sober steady, industrious and reliable, and together they make a team that will be hard to beat.

A couple of youths of this city were sent to the country last week for a load of hay by their father, and imagining they would have a good time if they took "something" with them, they got a bottle of whisky. They imbibed too freely, and shortly after they started home with the hay they turned the wagon over. Shame on you, boys, thus to bring shame and sorrow on your loving parents by such a course.

Judge T. H. Hines has placed a large lamp on the corner of Shelby and Third streets, South Frankfort, and Gen. John Rodman has erected one on the corner of his premises at the intersection of Shelby and Campbell streets. If one or two other enterprising citizens living on Shelby street will do likewise one of the principal thoroughfares of that side of the river will be better lighted than if it had gas on it.

Tuesday afternoon Judge McManama had eight convicts brought into court and sentenced as follows for escaping from the penitentiary:

Jas. Miracle, sent for five years from Bell county, one year; Nick Justice, sent for three years from Grant county, one year; Wm. Lear, sent for five years from Rockcastle county, one year; John Vonderhide, sent for six years from Jefferson county, two years; Thos. Burgess, sent for two years from Hickman county, one year; John Anderson, alias Wm. Johnson, sent for eight years from Jefferson county, one year; Frank Green, sent for five years from Lincoln county, one year; Jas. R. Martin, sent for five years from Logan county, one year. Judge McManama informed the prisoners that he was authorized by the Governor to say that if they behaved properly during the balance of their present term of servitude that none of them should serve the sentence for escaping for a longer time than two days.

Mr. Alex. Szymanski was presented with an elegant cake from S. Fuhs' confectionery on the occasion of the fourth anniversary of his marriage. The cake was made by Mr. Charley Schray, the boss baker.

J. P. Bohannon has been in Cincinnati this week buying goods for Mrs. S. J. Bohannon. He has arranged for a big five-cent counter, and you may lookout for something nice at Mrs. B.'s store next week.

Come to the Meeting.

Every tax-payer and citizen of South Frankfort, both white and colored, who feels an interest in the present and future prosperity of the South Side is earnestly requested to attend a meeting to be held at Henry Williams' store on Tuesday night 16th inst., at 7½ o'clock.

A little after 11 o'clock Thursday night the city was aroused by the alarm of fire, occasioned by the burning of the stables and a part of the residence and meat store of H. Burekhardt & Co., on Market street, near St. Clair. The buildings were the property of Mr. Andy Salender, whose loss amounts to about $500, covered by insurance. Burekhardt & Co. lost about $1,000, and were insured in the sum of $750. The fire was first discovered near the roof of the stable, and the flames soon spread to other outbuildings, then to the roof of the main building. It is supposed to have been caused by a defect in the flue of the lard-house.

City Finances.

Condensed statement of the city finances February 28, 1880, ordered to be published by resolution of the board at its regular meeting, March 2 1880:

Due Depo-it Bank.....	$12,804 41
Due school fund (white)	1,241 90
Due school sinking fund	4,147 55
Due on outstanding city bonds.....	7,000 00
Due colored school fund	1,174 07
Due State of Kentucky.....	1,208 35

Total deb.....$27,936 28

The above statement does not include the $25,000 school bonds due in 1888. The school sinking fund mentioned above provides for the payment of the bonds when due.

The city owns the following property: Gas works, water-works, Major Hall, work-house, market-house, engine-house, fire-engine and apparatus, $5,600 stock in turnpikes and $500 stock in the Industrial Association.

RUSSELL SNEED, City Clerk.

WEEKLY ROUNDABOUT.

Attend the temperance meeting at the court-house to-night.

Col. S. V. Pence brought some fine specimens of tobacco to this office Thursday, nearly all of which were raised on his farm in this county. He had two specimens of Green River country tobacco which brought in the Louisville market $5 50 and 4 75 per hundred. He also had a specimen of tobacco raised by Col. Jessie, in Henry county, which brought $14 50 per hundred in the Louisville market. The tobacco raised on his own land, by different tenants, brought respectively $21 00, $18 00, $16 75, $14 00, trash $10 50 per hundred. One of his tenants realized $1,040 on his crop, raised on five acres of land. This valuable tobacco land is situated on Flat creek in this county, only a few miles from Frankfort.

Republic Meeting.

The Republicans of Franklin county are requested to meet at the court house, in the city of Frankfort, on Monday, April 5th, 1880, for the purpose of appointing delegates to the State Convention which assembles in Louisville on Wednesday, April 14th, 1880. By order of

THE COUNTY COMMITTEE.

Judge McManama Exonerated.

Report of the Grand Jury to the Franklin Criminal Court in relation to the charges against Judge O. D. McManama:

Your Grand Jury having been instructed specially to make diligent inquiry and investigate thoroughly into certain charges circulated in the public press and on the streets of Frankfort, against the presiding officer of this Honorable Court, we beg leave to submit the following:

We have had before us numerous witnesses who were supposed to have information on this subject. We have examined each of them thoroughly and carefully to the best of our knowledge in regard to the charges and rumors rumored against His Honor, the Judge of this Court, and have failed to find any evidence authorizing, as we think, this Grand Jury to take any notice of the same and find an indictment.

We have had the prompt and willing attention of the Judge himself, and every officer of this Honorable Court, and have had, in every instance, the immediate attention of every witness (with few exceptions). It therefore affords this Grand Jury much pleasure to say that we exonerate the Judge of this Honorable Court from the charges rumored and published against him, and are satisfied that they had their origin from a source too contemptible to mention.

P. R. Pattie R complaining.

Squire J. B. Hamilton was on a visit to friends in "Happy Hollow," near Flat creek, last week.

Big Salt and battery out here a day or so ago. Big Bill busted the snout of cousin Joe; Joe then got on his horse and got a writ—the best he could do under the circumstances.

The Jacksonville primary election was a happy affair. Ninety per cent. of all parties were tight. Clemm, Ovan, Johnny Adeock, and Messrs. Bailey and Stivers were among the notables present.

There lives a man not forty miles from Pappaw Ridge who has two wives and lives with neither, and a woman living in the same locality who has two husbands and lives with neither. This is very rare.

Dame Rumor has it that Andrew Jackson and Thomas Jefferson, two of our rustic gallants, will, in the course of a week or so, lead to the altar, at the same time, two of Stony creek's most charming and accomplished belles. All hail to the King!

Here we are, in the mud as usual, and I presume we will be; we are notable of ourselves to build a road and we are too poor and insignificant a part of the county to secure any favors from the powers that be; in short, we are only fit to vote and pay taxes.

Another grape-vine twist at "Shack's" last week—Lazzy Jim leading the orchestra Geo. Frank was, as usual, the lion of the night. Hezekiah Nebuchadnezzar was there as large as life, notwithstanding his aversion to such affairs. Hoosier was absent for a rarity.

It is said that the respectable portion of the North Benson vicinage are very anxious to have the prohibition law passed. Quite a number of the citizens who signed the remonstrance, signed also the prohibition petition when they became sober. We hope the representative of Franklin will aid us in this grand undertaking in behalf of civilization. Wont you do it, Judge?

The great social event of the past week in this bailiwick was the marriage of our youthful Squire, D. Owen Robinson to Miss Hopper, of Lexington. Congratulations were showered upon the happy pair from all sides.

There dwelt no joy in Elen's rosy bowers
Till hymen brought his love, delighted hour,
The world was sad, the garden was a wild,
And man, the hermit, sighed till woman smiled.
